HENRI

L'eau No. 6

L'EAU finds its origin in the fluid contours of late 19th-century Art Nouveau, a movement devoted to forging a direct conversation between art and the natural world. Here, those once-intricate silhouettes are distilled into precise, contemplative forms, recalling the Modernist quest for purity and restraint. Sculpted in clay and fired to enduring stoneware, each piece affirms a thoughtful dialogue between maker and material. With a steadfast hand towards simplicity, L'EAU embodies refined, enduring elegance.
